NotifyMD Announces Partnership with VocaleZ --New Medical Dictation Technology Expands Services --

FRANKLIN, Tennessee — NotifyMD, Inc., the leading provider of call management services to the physician practices industry, announces a partnership with Nashville-based VocaleZ, a provider of Physician Empowered dictation software and services.

VocaleZ uses voice-enabled software and Web technologies to provide a simple, cost effective dictation platform that is scalable from a single dictator to a large clinic or hospital. The partnership further expands NotifyMD's service offerings to provide a total communication solution for healthcare providers of all sizes.

"We are very excited to add VocaleZ products to our current product offerings. We believe the real future benefit of the relationship will be the joint development architecture that will allow a physician to dictate his or her patient encounters directly into NotifyMD's WebMessenger, our Internet-based application," says Gary Ferguson, CEO, NotifyMD. "This will complete the cycle of documentation and drive planned patient visits from encounters that qualify patients for office visits. In support of this innovative product is the fact that today few, if any, after-hours encounters are documented."

Advantages of VocaleZ include the industry's first flat rate pricing, a physician friendly dictation workflow process, a simplified document editing process, and significant productivity gains over traditional transcription.

"We are excited to partner with NotifyMD to offer their 3,500 clients a clinical documentation product that provides significant savings in time and money, and the newest Internet and voice recognition technologies, all without changing the physicians existing practice patterns," says Alexander Poston Jr., CEO, VocaleZ.
